Schools Residential Site Composting Of Food Waste Using Rocket In Vessel
Composter

Our own County Council approached us earlier this year , looking for a solution to the food waste generated at the Conway Centre , instead of using traditional and perhaps "unethical" disposal methods. After several meetings , demonstrations and site visits , the County Council and members of the Conway Centre decided upon the use of our A700 Rocket Composter for their exemplar site. The Conway Centre is a large, short term, residential educational facility set in idyllic surroundings on the island of Anglesey North Wales.

The Centre occupies 170 acres of National Trust parkland and gardens which extend down to the Menai Strait and include a Private Dock, Adventure Playground, Tipi, Playing Fields, Natural Ponds, Sheltered Shoreline and Mature Woodlands.

The site has over 300 beds can offer groups a variety of fully catered accommodation, workspace and activity options. Whether your group is 250, 25 or even smaller we can help you design a course to fit your needs.

Qualified expertise is available for the Arts, Field Studies and Outdoor Education. All of our senior staff are qualified teachers and hold a high level of qualification in a wide variety of disciplines.

In addition, the Centre is well known for the opportunities offered for large or small groups to run their own courses completely delivered by themselves in a residential-setting with full backup from our staff for planning and organisation.
